

Record in the Commens Bibliography. Retrieved from <http://www.commens.org/bibliography/manuscript/peirce-charles-s-1913-analysis-trustworthiness-different-kinds-reasonings-ms>, 03.01.2025.

Type: Manuscript

Author: Peirce, Charles Sanders

Title: Analysis of the Trustworthiness of the Different Kinds of Reasonings

Manuscript Id: MS [R] 680

Year:

1913

Abstract / Robin Catalogue:

Description: A. MS., n.p., late, pp. 1-26, incomplete, with 18 pp. of variants.

Essay is directed toward boys between the ages of twelve and eighteen who think. The mind-body distinction. The three classes of psychical, physical, and psychophysical. The three elements in all psychical phenomena. Analysis of the state of awareness in terms of its three ingredients. Consciousness of contrast and awareness of change. Triadic distinction of actual fact, may be, and would be. History of the principles of contradiction and excluded middle. Reality of can-be's and would-be's as well as actual facts and existing things. Would-be's related to dispositions and habits.

Dated 1913 by Christian Kloesel

Language: English